They report the work of locating the line well under way, and that the entire line should be located within ten days or two weeks from this writing.—Bismarck Gazette.

County Superintendent Burnham reports the teachers' meeting held at the King School, in the south end of the county, last Saturday, as a most successful affair. There was an unusually large attendance; everybody, or nearly everybody, from that section was present. Dinner was served on the grounds, and a most pleasant, as well as profitable, time was had by all.

Mr. Henry D. Bollinger, of Bellevue, who had been seriously ill at the Smith Hotel in this city for the past ten days died this (Wednesday) morning at 5:30 o'clock. The deceased was 58 years of age and had been engaged in the mercantile business at Bellevue for the past four years. The remains will be taken to Greenville, Mr. Bollinger's former home, for interment.

A boy, seventeen years of age, who gave his name as Brennan Morris and said his home was in Kansas City, had half of his right hand cut off when he attempted to disembark from a south bound freight train at Hogan shortly before day last Sunday morning. Dr. Marshall was summoned and amputated the fingers of the unfortunate lad. A purse was made up and he was sent back to Kansas City.

On another page of the REGISTER will be found a complete news story of the Wilson-Sayre wedding, which took place at the White House in Washington Tuesday, November 26, at 4:30 o'clock. The wedding of President Wilson's daughter was the thirteenth to be solemnized in the White House. Read about it in this issue and don't overlook the many other good things in the paper.

Dr. Dailey Appleberry, of Bellevue, was a Farmington visitor a few hours Wednesday afternoon. Before returning home he visited his brother, Dr. R. Appleberry and wife, and his many friends at Leadwood, where he practised for six years and directed a physicians' research laboratory. We were glad to see Dr. Dailey again and to learn that he is enjoying a fine practice in his new location. He is a prince among fellows as well as a very fine young physician.—Farmington News.

Married—At the residence of the bride's parents in Ironton, Mo., Thursday afternoon, November 20, 1913, Mr. Robert Lee Barger and Miss Laura Coddling, Rev. George Steel, of Flat River, officiating. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. Barger and his bride left for St. Louis and other places, where they spend their honeymoon. They will be at home in Ironton after December 15th. The REGISTER extends its very best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Barger and expresses the hope that long life and happiness may be theirs.

Missouri will see a mild winter, according to the good old-fashioned signs. Men who base weather forecasts on the turns of nature cite reasons for saying that the 1913-14 winter will not be severe. One is that the corn husks are thin. Many of the ears on the stalks are thin and the winter will be mild. Another old sign is that muskrats and gophers are not digging deep holes to occupy during the winter months. Farmers say that when these animals throw up big heaps of dirt near their holes that it is known that they have gone deep to escape the extreme cold. This year it said the piles of dirt are not large which indicates that the holes are not deep.

A birthday party was given W. R. Hall of Ironton last Wednesday evening by his better-half, and it was attended by a number of neighbors and friends. They all congratulated him upon the attainment of his 25th year, with good wishes to him and his for many years to come. An elegant lunch was served, with cigars to aid its digestion, and music to enlighten the hearts of the guests. They all had a good time. Among those present were: M. W. Daugherty, P. P. Rosentreter, Mayor Rasche, Jno. I. Marshall, F. W. Delano, Homer Marshall, Lemtow Hill, Wm. Black and Jno. Moore.

A party of four—two men and two women—came to town Monday and disposed of a wagon-load of turkeys. Then they went to Lopez Store Co.'s and made a number of purchases. While this was going on, one of the women took a skirt to Miss Fisher in the millinery department and desired her to wrap it up, saying that Mr. Schach from whom she purchased it was busy. Afterward, Miss Fisher upon inquiry found that Mr. S. had not sold a skirt to the woman. Whereupon investigation was made, and it was discovered that several articles had been abstracted without the knowledge of the store folk. These articles were returned, after threat of arrest, and the party of four went their way. But, so far as they were concerned, the day's trading was spoiled.

Mr. Fred Geitz, Jr., of Ellington, Mo., who has been assisting in a Holiness meeting at Piedmont for several weeks past, writes the REGISTER under date of November 19th: "The meeting here has taken on a tremendous momentum, the glory coming down in every service, and people even getting converted in their homes. One man prayed in his corn crib for three hours this morning, and they sent for me to come at once, that he was dying. When I got there seven or eight women, together with Bro. Abernathy, were praying. The poor fellow was rolling in the corn, screaming for mercy. In a few minutes he got salvation and shouted all over the place. There have been 47 conversions to date. The town is stirred. Have never witnessed anything like it. Men rolling off the benches under terrible conviction."

One of the most atrocious deeds that has ever been committed in any civilized town, was committed here between 10:30 Tuesday night and 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Someone, in a revengeful spirit, crawled in a window of the opera house, between those hours, cut and scratched up a $600 piano and slashed a rug all over the place. These were owned by L. F. Plank. Not satisfied with this, they cut the rubber hose attached from the gas drums to the motion picture machine and stole the lenses and otherwise damaged to the amount of $60. They also cut both ends of a bass drum which was owned by Hugh Bisplinghoff. There is no reason for this whatever, only spite work, and the parties committing the deed must undoubtedly be some fanatics. In order to give these parties their just dues, they should be placed where the dogs won't bite them.—Bismarck Gazette.

The following is taken from the St. Louis Republic of November 19: "Mrs. Holmes T. L. Fuller of 3805 Lindell boulevard got a divorce yesterday in Circuit Judge Withrow's court from Dr. Allen G. Fuller. Mrs. Fuller is the daughter of W. H. Thomson, vice-president of the Boatmen's Bank, and resides at his home. She and Dr. Fuller were married in St. Louis in 1904, and went to St. Regis, Mont., where he conducted a hospital. She stated there were not many women in the locality, and few, if any, of their social standing. She said her husband told her he loved another woman, whom she did not know. Although he had a large income she had to do the housework, she stated. He exhibited a bad temper and told her to return to her parents and sue for divorce, or that he would, as he wanted to be free, she stated. They separated in July, 1912. She did not ask for alimony."

Miners at the Doe Run Company Shaft No. 1 on Monday night demonstrated beyond doubt that they still have some striking spirits left, when they walked out in a body because of dissatisfaction occasioned by changes affecting two underground mule drivers. A foreigner and Mode Fisher, an American, were the drivers over whom the trouble occurred. Work at the stope from where the foreigners had been driving was discontinued shortly after the shift went to work and the foreigner, because he was the oldest employee in point of service, was transferred over to Fisher's place and the latter was ordered to shovel. The miners resented the action of the shift foreman in making the change, claiming it was an unjust discrimination, and when the foreman refused to leave Fisher at his old place, all the underground and top men, about 45 in number, went out on a strike. Tuesday's day shift and crew was informed of the grievance and they too refused to go to work, pending a settlement. At a meeting at the Union headquarters a committee composed of No. 1 underground men was chosen to confer with company officials. Two conferences were held before an agreement was reached. The Company officials disclaimed any intention to discriminate, as both men were members of the labor organization, and claimed that they were only carrying out their policy of favoring the old employees. The company stated that it was immaterial to them which of the men was given the place and agreed to let the men settle it among themselves, which they did by allowing the foreigner to retain the place and all men went back to work Tuesday night.—Farmington News.

School Notes.

Ironton schools will close Wednesday, November 26th, for the Thanksgiving holidays, to re-open Monday, December 1st.

We have much to be thankful for in what the year has brought to us in the way of improvement and progress. The liberal response of the citizens to entertainments given by the schools has enabled us to raise almost $250 for equipment, libraries, laboratories and athletics. The contests at games, county and state fairs have been the source of another $50. The increase in the levy for school purposes made it possible to maintain the high school on the first-class list and at the same time do needed repairs on the buildings.

The state law gave us the teachers' training course which we have been fortunate enough to meet the requirements for.

During the year many liberal-minded patrons have made valuable gifts of books, papers, magazines, reports, bulletins, circulars, etc., which add greatly to the efficiency of the school. The school has distinguished itself in contests, both physical and mental.

At the Piedmont fair the school exhibits won five first and six second premiums. At the state fair one prize was won, a note book exhibit. The athletic teams have played five successful games in basketball and one game that was lost.

Among the internal improvements can be noted besides the libraries and laboratories, the magazine stand, superintendent's desk, laboratory tables, primary and book exhibit. The library for the grades, more than seven hundred volumes suited to the various grades and used to supplement the regular work. The high school libraries contain about one thousand volumes, exclusive of bulletins, pamphlets, circulars, etc., covering every field of language, history, science and art. We are apt to think progress slow as we view it day after day, but travel along until viewed by the year, we are happy and let us give thanks with a song.

The attendance is very fine this month—some of the rooms reporting perfect attendance for several days. The teachers' training class have been enjoying observation lessons on reading the past few weeks; also had the opportunity to do some practice teaching. They were highly pleased with their success.

The school joins in congratulations and best wishes for a long and happy life for Mr. and Mrs. Lee Barger. Mr. Barger the third to marry from last year's corps of teachers. Mrs. Dunn (nee Pipkin) and Mrs. Signer (nee Thompson) preceding Miss Barger in the bonds.

Des Arc Items.

Our community was shocked last week by the announcement of the death of two of our young men—Walter Hickman and Walter Lashley.

Walter Hickman died at Vanduser, Mo., a little town on the Kennett branch of the Frisco railroad, eight miles east from Ironton, from the effects of carbolic acid. His wife, whom he married last August, was badly burned on the face. She and her brother attended the funeral at Des Arc last Saturday. He was buried by the Woodmen of Des Arc of which he was a member. He carried a $2,000 policy in the order in favor of his mother.

Walter Lashley died of cancer of the stomach. He was teaching at the Roberts school when first taken sick. Walter was also a young preacher of the Christian church. They were both energetic young men, and will be missed in our community. Walter Lashley was buried at Des Arc Monday.

I was over the way to-day (Sunday) and attended services in the Methodist church, which was built in 1878, and while there I thought of the many good Christian people who had attended that church and passed over the river since then. Among them were: Chas. A. Collins and wife; the Butte, Omohundros, Clarksons, Semands, Raney family, Mrs. E. W. Graves and many others. All are gone! How thankful I am that I am still here; but only for a short time.

Joe Hickman and Ed attended the funeral of their brother Saturday; also Doc Sisk of Bismarck.

Rev. Will Seal is holding quite a revival at Piedmont. Up to Saturday night there were sixty converts. They are doing a great work down there, reaching a class that other churches can not.

J. H. Stevenson lost a fine cow last week.

I passed by Jerome and Zell Lewis' farms, two miles north of Des Arc, last week. They have both built new houses on their farms. Jerome Lewis has three years' crop of straw, or three ricks—one for each year. He has his farm in a fine state of cultivation and it has a county road through it. He recently bought the old Charley Clifton place—one of the best farms on Big Creek.

Our merchants bought a car load of potatoes this week, so we will have cheaper potatoes from now on.

Thos. P. Fitz shipped in a car of flour and feed this week for Des Arc and Brunot merchants.

Tom Myers last week killed a white squirrel—something never seen here before.

Ed Maddock has bought two fine bird dogs; gave $25 each for them.

Our people will build a splendid foot bridge to the schoolhouse.

Prof. McKee, Miss Thompson and their schools attended the teachers' meeting at King School house Saturday. They report a good time; dinner on the ground.

J. B. Hodges and John Murray were here last week looking at the handle factory. They expect to put in a handle factory at Lesterville. ISAAC.
